

A MESSAGE FROM NEWLY-ELECTED IEA BOARD PRESIDENT KEVIN J. ROY

KEVIN J. ROY
President

It is an honor to serve as President of the Board of Directors of the Inspire, Encourage, Achieve (IEA) organization, a non-profit designed to help children achieve dignity and respect through knowledge, compassion, understanding, and love. As members of society, we must be vigilant in our outreach to at-risk youth in Southeast Texas and work together to promote opportunities and create stability in the lives of all our youth.

On behalf of the board of directors and staff of IEA, I want to say thank you to the numerous volunteers, mentors, donors, and partners that help perpetuate the mission of the program. As President, I am committed to working with all stakeholders as we strive to transform the lives of youth who depend on us now and on whom we depend for the future.

At the January board meeting, Regina Rogers, in a surprise move, said that after 10 years as president, it was time to “pass the torch.” She resigned and asked for a motion to elect Kevin Roy president. The board unanimously approved the motion. Roy is the CEO and President of Interflow Factors Corporation.
